THIRD QUARTER 2007

PASSMARK – SO SECURE

Online banking has always been secure. Online users are asked to submit a unique User ID and Password to validate their identity and “authenticate” themselves online in order to gain access to account information.

But now, the credit union has added a powerful extra layer of online security called PassMark.

In addition to you, the online user, identifying yourself, now, the credit union will authenticate itself to you. This “multi-layer authentication” lets you be assured with absolute certainty that you are logging onto the credit union’s website, not an imposter site, and that all online information is completely secure.

How does this new security system work? You will be presented with a picture and key phrase each time you log in to your Online Banking account. Both you and the credit union confirm that the security data is correct.

By passing back information that only you and the credit union know, you can be confident and feel even more secure with your online banking experience. We recognize you and you recognize us. Online Banking has never been more secure! If you have any problems logging on to the online banking system, give us a call at 276-6083 we will be glad to help you.
